

FALL OPEN STUDIOS 2016

TWO DAYS OF INTERNATIONAL CONTEMPORARY ART

OPENING RECEPTION
Friday, November 4,
6–9pm

OPEN STUDIO HOURS
Saturday, November 5,
1–8pm

The International Studio & Curatorial Program (ISCP) Fall Open Studios is a two-day exhibition of international contemporary art. The 38 artists and curators from 22 countries currently in residence will present work in their studios. Only two times a year, all of the residents and staff of ISCP invite the public to experience art in its place of origin and to share conversations with artists and curators from all over the world. Concentrated in a single three-story postindustrial loft building on the edge of Bushwick, ISCP has long supported the creative advancement of its residents with a robust program of private individual workspaces and professional benefits, since its founding over twenty years ago.

The Animal Mirror will be presented during Open Studios. This group exhibition presents artworks that take non-human animals as their subject matter, reflecting a range of cultural and societal issues of the twenty-first century. The exhibition will be installed in ISCP's gallery and project space, and offsite at a neighborhood community garden. Artists in the exhibition include Kristina Buch, Marcus Coates, Petra Feriancová, Yona Friedman, Terike Haapoja, Anna Jermolaewa, Maartje Korstanje, Agnieszka Kurant, Wesley Meuris and Shimabuku. Nearly all of the work in the exhibition is being shown in New York for the first time. The exhibition is curated by Kari Conte.

On Saturday, November 5, at 12pm please join artist Maartje Korstanje at Olive Street Garden (corner of Olive and Powers Streets, Brooklyn) to discuss her offsite work commissioned for The Animal Mirror. An organic site-specific sculpture related to the recent disappearance of a large number of North American honeybee colonies, it is meant as much to serve as a home for solitary bees as for the enjoyment of its human visitors.

Artist-designed temporary tattoos by residents Mark Hilton and Martine Gutierrez will be provided free by Tattly throughout the event.
